As Dubai’s residential property market continues its upward trajectory, 2025 has reinforced the emirate’s position as one of the most attractive global destinations for real estate investment. Backed by sustained demand, growth and investor confidence, apartment prices across affordable, mid-tier and luxury segments have recorded steady gains this year.

This report reviews average apartment sale prices, price-per-square-foot trends and returns on investment (ROI) in Dubai’s most popular residential communities during 2025.

We have segregated popular areas for buying apartments and villas into 'Affordable,' 'Mid-tier' and 'Luxury' to offer a more tailored view of the Dubai property market in 2025.

AT A GLANCE: DUBAI PROPERTY SALES MARKET 2025

This report examines and contrasts apartment sales prices in Dubai for 2025 with those recorded in 2024, based on changes in average price-per-square-foot, sales values and rental yields across key residential communities.

- According to Bayut's data, buyers looking for affordable apartments focused on Dubai Silicon Oasis for affordable apartments, whereas Jumeirah Village Circle and Dubai Marina were top areas of interest for mid-tier and luxury apartments, respectively.
- For villas, DAMAC Hills 2 emerged as the most preferred area in the affordable category. Home buyers looking for mid-tier houses showed an inclination towards Al Furjan, whereas Dubai Hills Estate remained popular for luxury villas.
- Apartment prices in Dubai increased by up to 29% in 2025, with the highest surges noticed in the affordable category. Sale prices for villas surged up to 28%, with affordable and mid-tier communities recording the most significant price hikes.
- From an investment perspective, the highest rental yields for apartments, ranged from 8% to 10%, whereas villa communities with the best rental returns had ROIs averaging more than 6%.

For an accurate representation of Dubai property price trends, our 2025 sales market report compares the average price-per-square-foot for an area to the previous time period. Please note that these prices are subject to change based on multiple factors including amenities available, the developer involved in the project, location and other key factors.

Commenting on the findings, Haider Ali Khan, CEO of Bayut, Head of Dubizzle Group MENA, and Board Member of the Dubai Chamber of Digital Economy, said:

“Dubai’s property market is entering a more mature phase, where new supply is increasingly aligned with genuine end-user demand rather than short-term speculation. While price sensitivity will always play a role, buyers and tenants today are placing far greater emphasis on lifestyle, location and build quality. Our focus at Bayut is to support this evolution by enabling clearer, more informed decision-making through reliable data, transparent listings and practical insights that bring confidence to every step of the property journey.”

This concludes Bayut’s Dubai Sales Market Report 2025. We’ve rounded up the most popular areas to buy apartments and villas in various districts. Stay tuned for Bayut’s upcoming 2025 Abu Dhabi Real Estate Sales Market Report, which will provide further insights into the region’s property trends.
